

Cycling in the Market Harborough and Lutterworth area

The centre of Market Harborough has excellent cycle links, connecting schools, shops and other services with the town's railway station, and onto route 6 and 64 on the National Cycling Network. Route 6 itself winds out of the town along the Grand Union Canal towards Leicester, taking in Foxton Locks a staircase of ten locks, and a great refreshment stop during a bike ride.

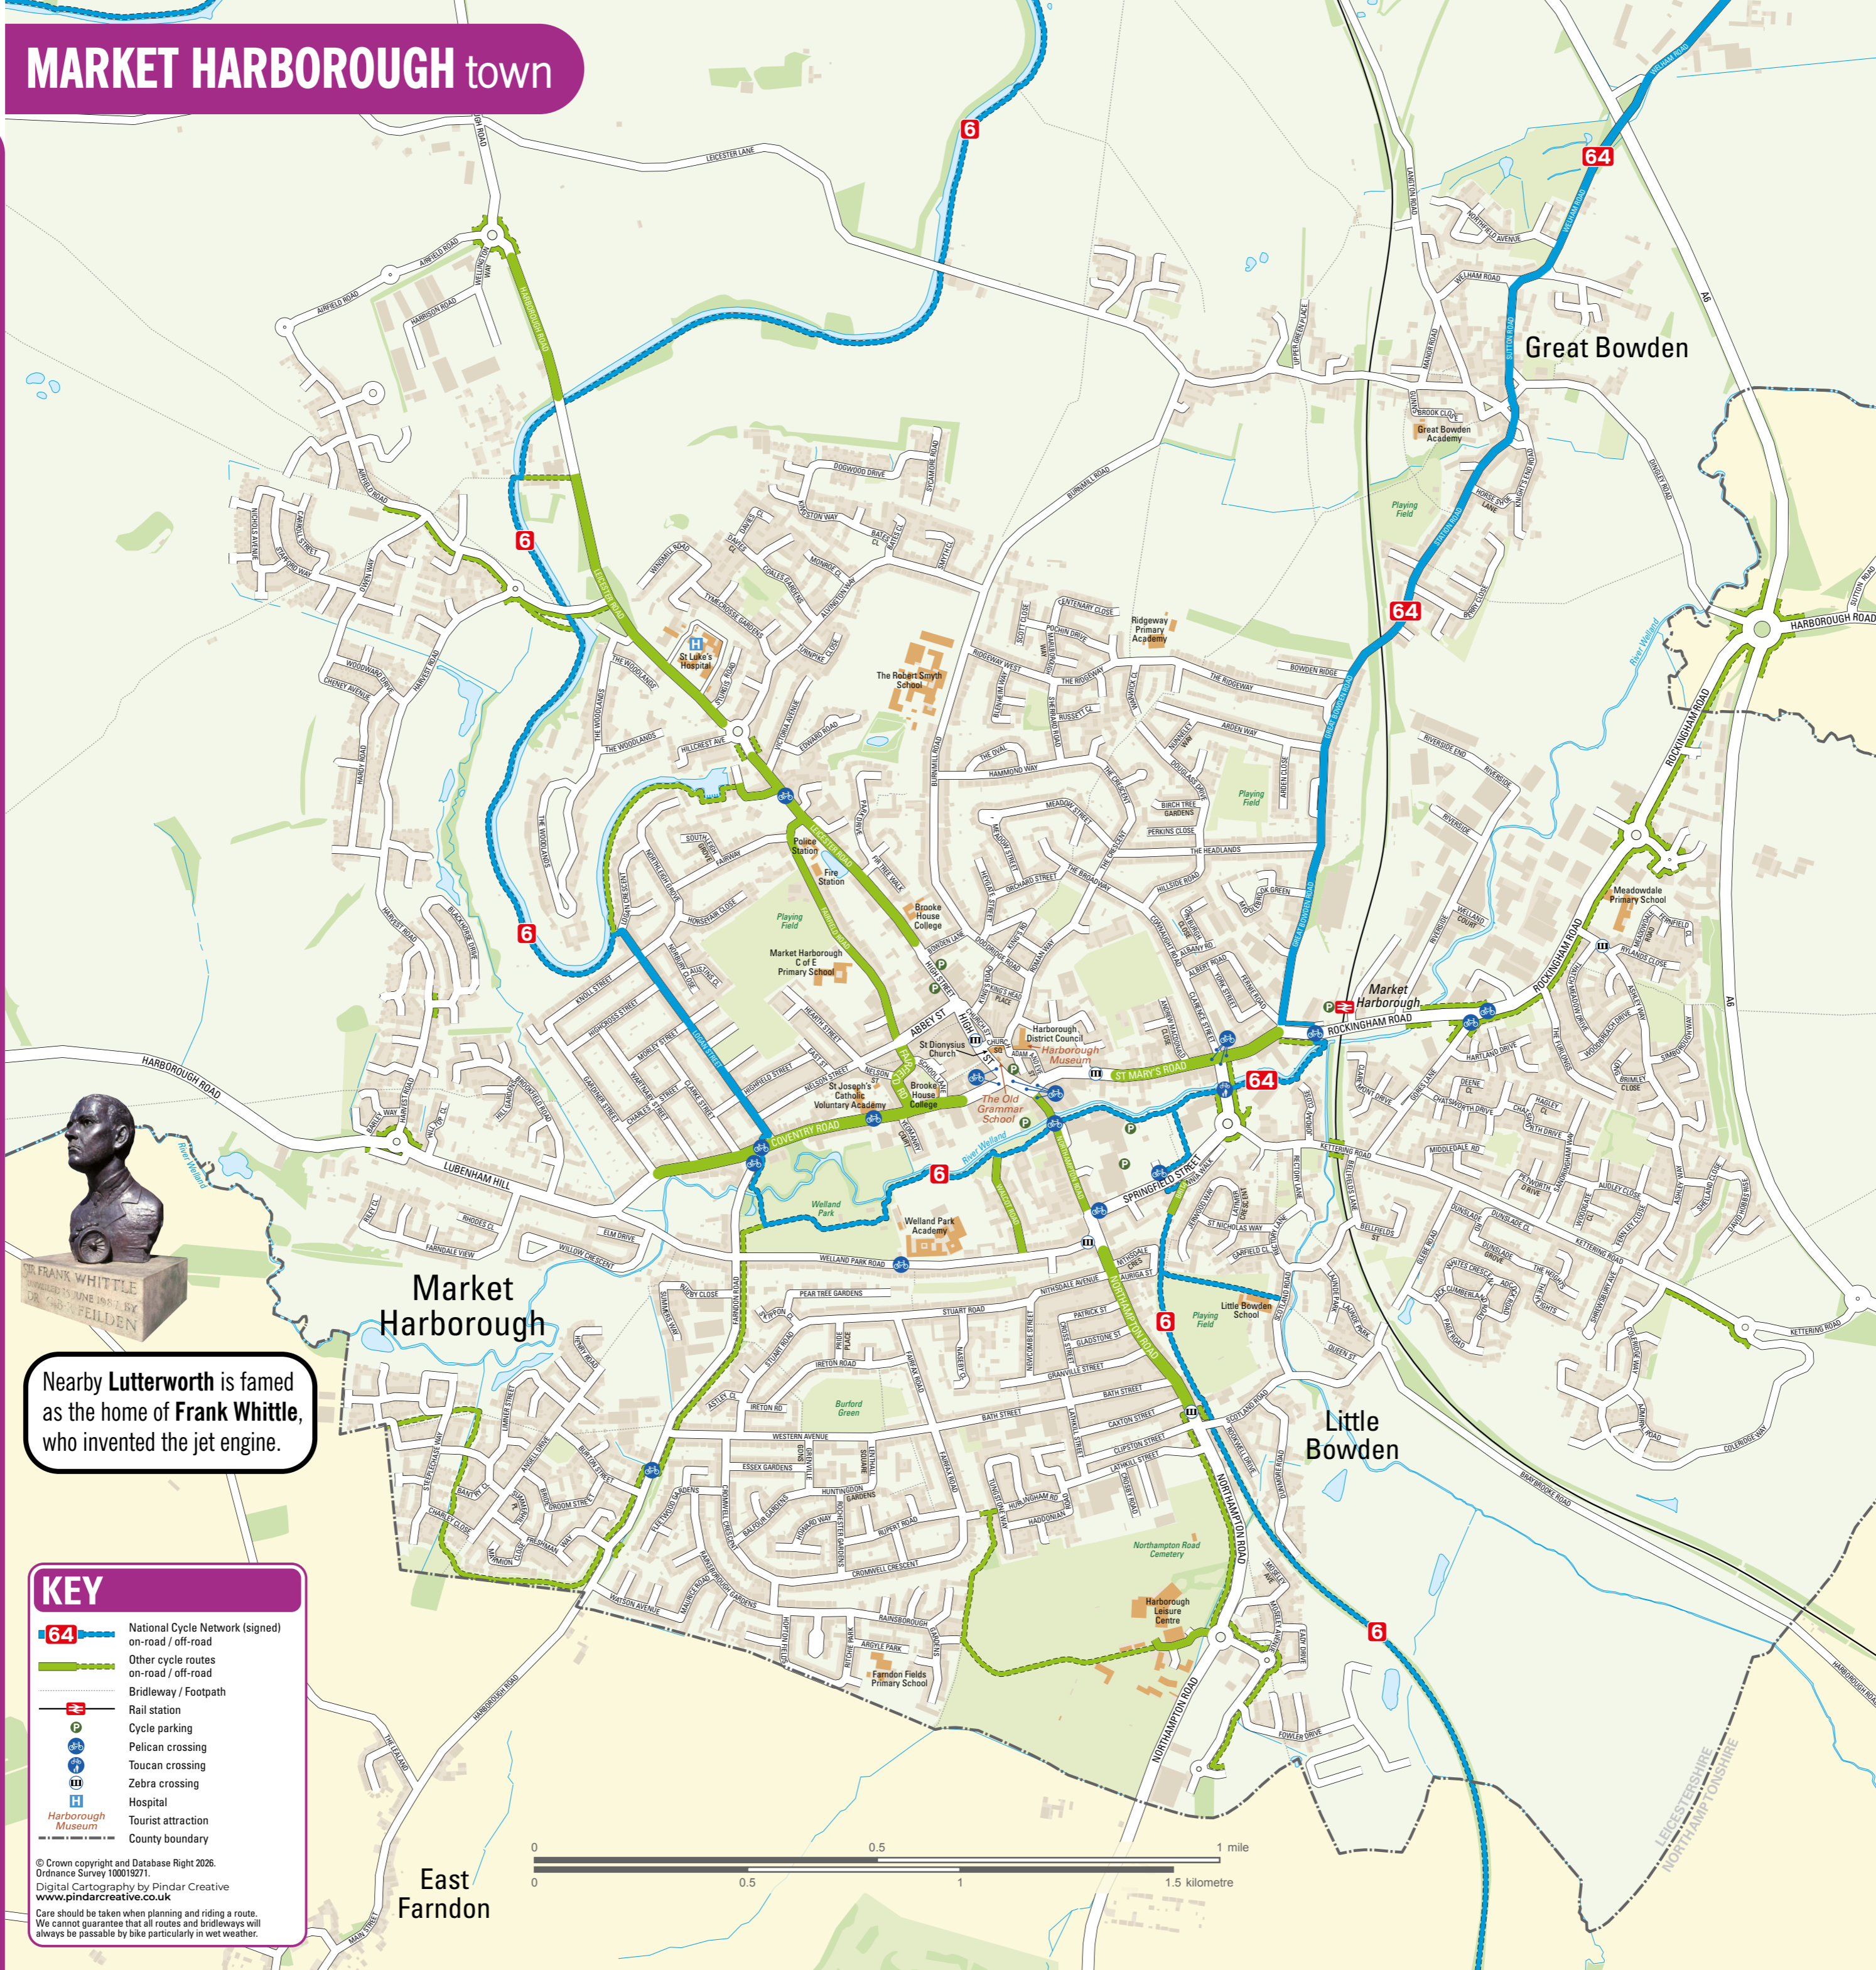

A quintessential English town in the Welland Valley, and home to the 'Millennium Mile' route linking the town centre's shops, with beautiful Welland Park.

Good Cycling Tips

- 1 Follow the Highway code
- 2 Be courteous The streets are shared with other people. So be aware and be prepared to slow down and stop if necessary.
- 3 Do not cycle on footways Adults may be fined for riding on footways except where it is legally permitted.
- 4 Be heard If sharing space with other street users use a bell but be aware not everyone can hear you.
- 5 Be seen Powered front and rear lights are required by law at night and visible clothing may be useful.
- 6 Consider a helmet Helmets may help in the event of a fall or crash and should comply with British Standard EN 1078.
- 7 Keep your cycle safe Use a good quality lock when parking your bike and use secure bike parks where available.

MARKET HARBOROUGH town

Nearby Lutterworth is famed as the home of Frank Whittle, who invented the jet engine.
